

Nursing Facility Admission Criteria for the Justice Involved Population

MissionCare Health locations are privately owned skilled nursing facilities that care for individuals who meet nursing home level of care criteria and who are difficult to place because of a history of mental health disorder and/or criminal history or other stigma.

It should be clear that a nursing facility is the most appropriate, least restrictive setting for the individual being evaluated for placement. There should also be evidence that other, more traditional nursing facilities will not consider the individual for admission.

In addition to the MissionCare assessment process, Federal law requires that all individuals undergo a Preadmission Screening Resident Review (PASRR). Admission is ultimately determined by review of the above factors, consideration of the milieu and at discretion of the MissionCare team in consideration of the greatest likelihood of successful resident placement.
